[Approved March 14, 1907.]

Section 1. Section two of the above-entitled Act, as amended January 31, 1893, as amended February 28, 1899, is hereby amended so as to read as follows:

Section 2. Any citizen of the United States, or person resident of this State, who has, bona fide, declared his intention to become a citizen in the manner required by law, of the age of twenty-one years, and who possesses the necessary qualifications of good moral character, learning and ability, shall be entitled to admission as attorney and counselor in all the courts of this State. Under this Act females shall have the same right and privileges as males.

Sec. 2. Section seven of said Act is hereby amended so as to read as follows:

Section 7. The examination may be dispensed with in the case of a person who has been admitted attorney and counselor in the highest courts of a sister State or Territory, or a foreign country, where the common law of England constitutes the basis of jurisprudence. His affidavit of such admission, or his license showing the same, together with satisfactory evidence of good moral character, shall be deemed sufficient to entitle him to admission; but the court may examine the applicant as to his or her qualifications.
